PADUCAH, KY., WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 17 1910.

TEN CENTS PER WEEK

BOY GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE WILL BE B. W. HOOPER

Named as Candidate by Republicans and Independent Democrats.

All Taylor Sets Convention Wild With Speech.

ONLY ONE BALLOT IS TAKEN.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 17.—Hon. W. Hooper, of Newport, is the Republican nominee for governor of Tennessee.

H. A. Pyles, independent Democratic candidate for railroad commissioner for West Tennessee, gets the Republican endorsement for that office. The Republicans make no nomination for commissioner.

The platform adopted comes out strong for enforcement of the present liquor legislation, indorse the Taft administration, and is others were not different from the convention. Republican platform of this state in 1904.

These three matters constitute the sum total of the performance of the state Republican convention here.

It was the most pretentious convention the Republicans of Tennessee have held since back in 1894, when H. Clay Evans gave Peter Turner such a race for the office of governor that it required legislative action to place the Democratic candidate in the chair.

The keynote of the proceedings was a confident reliance on the aid of the insurgent Democrats. Hence it happened that the mention of B. W. Carnahan, brought forth a great storm of applause in this Republican convention.

Should it befall that Hon. W. Hooper becomes chief executive of Tennessee, he will never be able to escape the comparison of "the boy governor." Really he is no kid, he is 33 years of age. He has not figured much in state politics. At one time he served as assistant United States district attorney for East Tennessee under James H. Bennett, but otherwise his life has been devoted to the practice of law and to the accumulation of a fortune. He has been successful, though he seemed poor and worked his way from the ground up. He is now said to be worth half a million dollars, made in oil and other investments in Texas and in various enterprises in East Tennessee.

Taylor Gets Applause.

When Hon. A. A. Taylor closed with a quotation from B. W. Carnahan, the speech of acceptance of the temporary chairmanship he evoked applause. This body was rapped to order promptly on the stroke of 11 o'clock by Newell Sanders, chairman of the state executive committee. Order was quickly obtained, and Chairman Sanders announced that the proceedings would be opened with prayer by Rev. J. A. Lofton, of Nashville. The convention arose to its feet during the delivery of the invocation. The minister asked divine blessing upon the labors of this gathering, which met here, he said, to settle questions that involve the purity and morality of the commonwealth.

George T. Benfro, secretary of the state committee, read the call for the Today was the hottest of the summer and the government thermometer on the roof of The Sun building registered 102 degrees at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Owing to the tin roof throwing additional heat four degrees is subtracted. A slight breeze gave some relief and more in sight with the prediction for cooler weather.

Of this amount $1,655.63 was collected in state revenue, $2,333.10 in county revenue and $264.67 in county school revenue. The report was filed yesterday afternoon in the county court clerk's office.

Bryan is Defeated and Nebraska Democrats Go Over to "Wets"—In California, Insurgents Winners

Governor Shallenberger Beaten For Re-Nomination by Mayor Dahlman of Omaha—Senator Burkett Wins.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 17.—As far as the limited returns show, the following are the probable winners of the Nebraska state primary: Republican—Governor, C. H. Aldrich over A. D. Cadey; United States senator, A. J. Burkett, of Lincoln, over U. O. Wheeler. Democrats—Mayor Dahlman, of Omaha, wet candidate, over Governor Shallenberger, for the dry; for senator, G. M. Hitchcock over R. T. Moten, of Lincoln, Bryan's candidate.

Insurgents Win.

San Francisco, Aug. 17.—The insurgents swept the California primaries yesterday. Hiram W. Johnson, the insurgent Republican, was nominated for governor. Two insurgents were named for congress, and J. V. Workes probably will receive the endorsement for the United States senate. Congressman McKinley regular, is probably defeated.

SOLID SOUTH AS ROOSEVELT SEES IT IN FUTURITY

Says Panama Canal Will Draw Distributing Trade to Dixie Land.

Letter of Acceptance of Atlanta Invitation.

NEED MORE PEOPLE HERE.

New York, Aug. 17.—In response to an invitation to address the Southern Commercial Congress at Atlanta in the spring of 1911, Theodore Roosevelt has just sent a letter to Charles Hall Davis, chairman of the congress, at Petersburg, Va. in part as follows:

"Aug. 16, 1910. "My Dear Sir—It is not possible as yet for me to answer definitely, but I believe that on my trip to California next March I shall pass through the southern states, and I hope that it can be arranged that the Southern Commercial Congress hold its meeting in one of the cities through which I am able to pass. If so, it will be a real pleasure to me to be present and to say all that I can in behalf of this admirable movement.

"More and more the former misunderstanding about the south is tending to disappear and you and your associates have set in motion a force that will have much to do with the complete dissipation of this misunderstanding. You are working for a stronger south, and you show your wisdom and foresightedness in the way you realize that this movement for a stronger south, to be effective, must really mean a stronger national cohesion, for the old south of yesterday is being changed into the young America of today.

The Real Solid South.

"Every good American must hope to see a real solid south, in the sense of solid business prosperity in the south, for all good Americans now realize that the prosperity of any part of the country helps the prosperity of the whole, and the prosperity of the whole will grow faster and stand on the most durable foundations only when we effectively realize that the word 'south,' 'north,' 'east' and 'west' have only a geographical significance.

"I earnestly hope that the young men of the south will never forget

NEW PUBLIC ROAD FROM CAIRO PIKE

RUNS TO CHILDRESS ROAD AS REQUESTED BY PROPERTY OWNERS.

Commissioners having secured a right-of-way except in one instance County Judge Alben Barkley has ordered the opening of a public road from the Cairo pike to the Childress road, with a width of 30 feet.

Residents of that section of the county filed a petition February 14, asking for the improvement was filed in the county court. A commission, composed of Charles Harting, T. B. Fauntleroy and Will Ware, appointed to get a right-of-way, do not recommend the opening of the road along the proposed route, and the road will be built according to the commission's recommendation. The county will only be out $100 in securing the right-of-way, having purchased a strip of property from Gaines brothers. Work on the road will begin at once and it will probably be ready for travel this fall.

Kentucky Bankers, Group 1 Meet in Paducah at Woman's Club Today and Discuss Problems of Finance

Capt. Ed Farley, State Treasurer, and Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner Address Convention.

Thirty-four representatives of First district banks are attending the meeting of Group 1, Kentucky Bankers' association which convened at the Woman's club this morning. Those present are:

H. H. Gilbert, Murray; Ben L. Bruner, Frankfort; E. Farley, Paducah; R. Rudy, Paducah; A. J. Rully, Hazlet; J. O. Blam, Bardwell; C. M. McGlothlin, Louisville; J. W. Turk, Bardwell; T. T. Gardner, Bardwell; M. R. Cox, Birmingham; D. H. Clark, Murray; Ben Grogan, Murray; I. N. Trimble, Wickliffe; L. J. Bryant, Bardwell; J. H. Payne, Arlington; W. R. Turner, Corbin Springs; H. C. Overbey, Paducah; John Darnell, Benton; S. H. Alan, Murray; J. L. Price, Benton; R. L. Holland, Calvert City; L. M. Rieke, Paducah; J. K. Rudolph, Lovelaceville; L. E. Stevens, Lovelaceville; Arch B. Davis, Louisville; John J. Sanders, Louisville; A. S. Rice, Louisville; D. H. Hughes, Paducah; N. W. VanCulin, Paducah; R. L. Bishop, Lowes; W. L. Fulton, Murray.

They were welcomed by Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. G. T. Sullivan, J. R. Wylie, of Princeton, responded to the address of welcome.

Afterwards State Treasurer Ed Farley, Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner, C. C. Grassham and Arch B. Davis, of Louisville, addressed them.

At 1 o'clock luncheon was served at the Palmer House and at 2 o'clock they boarded the G. W. Robertson for a river trip.

Chairman Louis M. Rieke called the meeting to order.

Secretary Davis' Address. Arch B. Davis, of Louisville, secretary of the state association, delivered the following address on "The Group System."

"The subject of my talk today is 'The Group System,' and in discussing this subject I will necessarily be compelled, in a large measure, to review the work of the state organization.

"I do not expect to say aught that is new, and I probably will advance to you no new thought upon this occasion, but if I can succeed in bringing to your mind some good that this association has accomplished in the past that you perchance have forgotten, and can make you see more clearly the advantages of our association, then I will say that my time has not been spent in vain.

"The Kentucky Bankers' association at the present time has a membership of 535, which is by far the largest in its history. The association at this time is a greater power for good and is doing more practical things for its members in promoting the general welfare and usefulness of banking institutions than ever before, due to the largely increased membership, which has enabled us to add additional features to our work.

"As has been truly said, this is the age of organization, due to the fact that mankind realizes that in this way, and this way alone, is obtained the best results.

"That an organization of this character is essential to the banking interests of every state cannot be disputed. When any number of men are banded together in one common purpose a great deal more can be accomplished than by individual effort, and the modern banker is realizing more and more that instead of having the association thrust upon him, so to speak, he should seek the association. It is unfortunate that we have any bankers who do not believe in the State Bankers' association. By concerted action the banks of this state can wield a powerful influence in almost any direction, whether it be in advancing good laws, or in discouraging legislation that would be harmful to our interests.

"The farmers have seen the advantages of co-operation and the results of their united effort is readily seen and appreciated. We have our trade associations of all kinds, getting results that could not be obtained in any other manner, except through organization, and while it is to be deplored that every bank in Kentucky does not realize that it is to their interest to unite in the work that we are doing, I sincerely believe that it is only a question of time until every bank will see the necessity of becoming a member.

"It is the unanimous opinion that these group meetings are highly beneficial since they permit of an open discussion of matters that interest the local banks, and enable neighboring banks to act as a unit.

YOUTH ATTEMPTS TO END HIS LIFE WITH MORPHINE

Henry Irvan, of Murray, Saved by Farewell Note Written to Mother

Had Made Similar Attempt Once Before.

DOSE MADE HIM VERY SICK.

Apparently unbalanced, Henry M. Irvan, 23 years old, of Murray, Ky., and a member of a prominent family, made another unsuccessful attempt to end his existence at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the toilet room of the New Richmond House, First street and Broadway, when he swallowed the contents of two boxes containing quarter grain morphine tablets.

Calling Annie Tolliver, colored, to the window, he asked her to deliver a note he had written to his mother, but not until after he had died. He staggered to a seat and Annie sprang the alarm, giving the note to Ben Allen, a saloonist. Mr. Allen, with G. F. Phillips, a steamboat agent, dragged Irvan into the trunk room, where physicians were called. After working with him half an hour, they pronounced him out of danger. Stomach pumps were brought into play and he gave up enough poison to kill half a dozen men.

The note telling of his act was as follows:

"To My Mother, Murray, Ky. "Ignorance of the word of God and in the Bible, I now take my life. I am in so much trouble that it is carrying me to death. Ever who finds me please send a telegram to Murray, Ky. Address T. E. Irvan. "Bye, bye.

"HARRY M. IRVAN."

It was scribbled in pen and ink on a sheet of hotel stationery. Irvan's warning saved his life. Annie Tolliver, alias "Gold Tooth Annie," who was at the rear of Allen's saloon, was called to the window of the New Richmond House toilet room by Irvan.

"Take this note," he said, "and give it to my mother. Wait until I am dead. Can't you read it fast enough? I am in too much trouble to live." He turned and dragged himself to a seat and Annie, who had seen him lift two pill boxes to his lips before he called her, ran after Mr. Allen.

After reading it, he called Mr. Phillips. Dr. W. C. Eubanks was the first physician to arrive. Irvan, limp and unconscious, was dragged into the trunk room. Drs. S. Z. Holland and C. P. Burnett afterwards arrived.

The large amount of morphine caused Irvan to vomit twice before physicians reached him.

Irvan is the son of the late William Irvan, of Hardin, Ky., and frequently visited Paducah. He is said to have been drinking heavily last night and this is assigned as the cause for another attempt at suicide.

Don Ballowe noticed Irvan about 8:30 o'clock this morning at the postoffice addressing a post card. His attention was called to Irvan owing to his left arm being off just below the shoulder joint.

A message from Murray said Irvan made a somewhat similar attempt about three weeks ago.

Put Under Arrest. On account of Irvan being a non-resident he was refused at Riverside hospital and placed in the city jail by Patrolman Stewart. Charges of disorderly conduct were preferred against him in order to hold him.

This afternoon he was able to be up, but was sullen. Mr. S. H. Dees, of Murray, a banker, visited him, but Irvan did not have much to say. He asked Mr. Dees, who was well acquainted with him, to tell his mother as soon as he returned home tonight.

When questioned as to his reason for the act, Irvan said he was drunk. He said he had been out with a number of friends last night and did not remember where he spent the night. He met Mr. Dees this morning and they spoke. Irvan asked about what took place after he had swallowed the morphine. He is sick from the effects of the poison, but will be able to return home tomorrow.

"This is awful," he said to Mr. Dees this afternoon. He offered no statements, but seemed to regret his attempt to end his life.

In an unbalanced and uninteresting game at League park yesterday afternoon the Indians took another slide down the percentage column to the tune of 7 to 2. The start of the contest looked good when both teams scored two men each, but that was Paducah's first and last score. Efforts to put another runner across the home plate were unsuccessful.

Harrisburg shoved a man in home in the fourth and in the seventh scored a hitting streak and ran the score up to the doleful sum of 7. Neither side scored in the last two innings.

Ryan, who twirled for the locals, in spite of his contortions and twists, could not place the sphere where the visitors could not find it during the seventh inning, although he pitched a fair game up to that time. Ryan, however, did prevent an extra score in the sixth when he struck out Colbert in a pinch. Block had thrown wild to first in an effort to catch Jordan and the runner tried it to home, but was sent back one base by the umpire. Anderson played a good game at short. Overton was struck in the head by Hastings in the fourth inning, but showed his grit and took first base after rubbing his head.

Payno got out of the way of a hot one batted by Hastings in the fifth. Hastings, pitcher for the visitors, has an easy and peculiar delivery and is also good at the bat. What looked to be a home run was when he whopped the ball to the roof of the club house, but it was declared a foul. Tinslin's three base hit in the seventh trotted in three men.

In the first Turner, for the visitors, was safe on Woodring's wild throw to Varnadore and he afterwards scored when Dewitt was safe on Woodring's error and Overton's high throw to third. Hastings did Anderson to Varnadore, and Dewitt scored. For Paducah Lockhart's triple scored Block and Anderson, in the fourth Jordan's two bagger scored Tinslin, who was walked by Ryan. The climax came in the seventh. Dewitt and Hastings got hit after Turner had fanned, and Gust followed with a hit, placing three men on base. Dewitt flew out to second, baseman and Tinslin's three bagger ran up the score to six runs. Gust scored on Ryan's wild pitch.

Night Riders Win Double-Header.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 17.—The Night Riders went after the Phobias for two games yesterday, capturing the double-header. A close game resulted in the first contest, the score being 4 to 3 but in the second game Hoptown walked away with the Clarksville aggregation by the score of 12 to 3. Johnson twirled for Hopkinsville, allowing but three hits the first game, Harris for the visitors, showed up in good form. In the second game Crain, for the locals, went in the air and Yon was substituted. Priest, for Clarksville, was rapped out of the box and Manager McWilliams took charge of the sphere. He was hit freely.

Umpire Riezer gave perfect satisfaction yesterday and worked nicely behind the bat.

A feature of the game brought applause to Tinslin, shortstop for Harrisburg, when he stopped a red-hot one batted by Block in the eighth.

Paducah left early this morning for Hopkinsville for three games and will return Saturday accompanied by the Lunatics, who are booked for three games here.

Paducah lacked the ginger that Harrisburg worked with yesterday. Runyan provoked much comment on his turna and twists accompanying his delivery.

KENTUCKY BANKERS

Insurance policy recently placed its business through the association at a premium of $160, a saving of $110, or enough to pay its dues for seven or eight years in the association.

"Of course it is only a question of time until the other companies doing business in this state will also reduce their rates, some of them having already done so, but let our members bear in mind that had it not been for the association getting into the business, banks would still be paying the exorbitant premiums they did until a short time ago. The other companies have all along fought the association's plan of insurance, as they are anxious to compel the association to sever any connection with the business. Should they be successful in their efforts, they would then get together as the field would be open to all of them on the same basis and increase their rates to the old figures, and possibly higher.

"A little more than a year ago all of the guarantee companies entered into a compact to force a $4.00 rate on bank bonds, but this was afterwards nullified when they found themselves unable to compete with us at our rate of $2.50 per thousand.

"Several months ago an arrangement was made with the Burroughs Adding Machine company whereby our banks may secure a reduction of all the way from $14 to $30 on every machine purchased. Of course every bank will not be able to take advantage of this at once on account of their wants having been previously supplied; yet a great many banks will, and they could not possibly secure the discount in any other manner than by being a member of and through the association.

"These are all examples of the power of organization, and the good work that this association is doing. Yet they are only a few of the many good things this association has accomplished, and although the benefits at present are many and great, the possibilities for the future are greater.

"We will appreciate the value of the association more and more each year, and we shall grow and grow until eventually every bank in the state will be a member, and the benefits of membership will be largely increased.

"It will not be long until our financial condition will justify us in adopting a protective bureau and establishing a reward fund, which would mean that any member of the association would be protected from the forger, the swindler and the confidence man to the extent of every cent in our protective fund. I believe that this would be one of the greatest features we ever adopted, and it would have been put into effect before this time, but as you doubtless know, for the past few years the income of the association has not been sufficient to meet the expenses, but owing to the splendid support which our members are now according us in the matter of bond and burglary insurance, and the largely increased membership this year, I am glad to be able to report that the deficit has been entirely wiped out, and we now have a small surplus in the treasury.

"I trust that every one here will constitute himself a committee of one to see that within a reasonable time there is not a banker of your acquaintance, who does not hear something of the value of the Kentucky Bankers' association, and that you will leave nothing undone to cause every non-member in your district, or of your acquaintance, to realize and appreciate its value.

"In conclusion I wish to thank the officers and members of Group 1 for their willingness at all times to aid us in building up our membership, and for the upbuilding and carrying forward of the work of the association.

"I thank you."

Grassham's Address.

Hon. C. C. Grassham delivered an instructive and interesting address taking for his subject, "Banks and Bankers." He discussed the advantages that bankers find with other business men in organization of this kind, and the different peculiar duties which confront bankers in their dealings with patrons and depositors and at the same time satisfying the stockholders. He brought out the qualifications it requires to make a good banker, and the improvements which bankers have brought about in banking systems by working in harmony and in exacting high standards of integrity. He said that banks and bankers are held in popular esteem by reason of their having made these endeavors to improve their own and the banking system at large, in order to meet the demands of the public along these lines. The position of power which these bankers occupy and their influence is much increased on account of the position they hold in public esteem, and the business world expects them to make good both in exalting worthy citizens among them and in protecting the public from the weak and irresponsible ones that may be encountered in business with them. In closing he said that the citizens of Paducah feel justly proud in having Mr. James Utterback as president of the state association.

Capt. Farley's Speech.

Capt. Ed Farley spoke as follows:

"It is always interesting to talk finances, for though one be not possessed of enough of the world's goods to pay for a suit of summer clothes yet while discoursing on the interesting subject, he builds up ideas, inflates his imagination and feels for the time as though he is really a Rockefeller, a Morgan or a Croesus, and therefore has the right to talk to you poor plodding handiers of the filthy lucre and inform and advise you in the art of making two dollars out of one, and keeping on the outside of the battle. I really think, however, financial questions might better be discussed by real financiers, and the safety of our funds placed in the hands of intelligent, watchful and discreet banking and trust company officials, who have made a study of the subject and who may not fall to discover something wrong whenever the till is robbed of $1,000,000 or more by a 'dildapper' bookkeeper who may artfully try to conceal the transaction by taking the trifling sum of $35,000 per month. Expert and watchful guardians of banks can not be fooled in any such way, and whenever such a practice continues for more than two years, the individual is nearly sure to be exposed.

"My friend, Dr. Bruner, has had the nightmare for the last two years because of the fact that so many of our expert financiers in the state have failed to realize on their last venture, and their ship struck a rock on the right bank of the Cumberland. When we stop to think of the rapid progress made by Kentucky in the financial world during the last decade, and contemplate the possibilities for the future, we become aware of the fact that we have an asset in the good old commonwealth which, if properly cared for and nourished, will bring prosperity and happiness to unborn generations.

"Our progress in every branch of business for the last ten years has been marvelous, and is sufficient to inspire us to greater and more earnest work for the upbuilding of Kentucky. Occasional drawbacks in our business career, and the few breakers we may encounter from time to time, is calculated to cause the pessimist to declare that we have reached the end of our prosperity and further progress may not be expected, but such is not the case, and while the croaker always has, and always will be with us, the business men of Kentucky are forging to the front, building fortunes for themselves and adding wealth to our state.

"In the year 1900, the assessed value of the property of the state was $574,867,964. We find a gradual increase in values from year to year until now it is $828,275,022, an increase in the ten years of $253,407,058.

"The railroad mileage in Kentucky in 1909 was 3,560 miles, an increased mileage of more than 70 per cent in nine years.

"The output of coal in Kentucky for the year 1908 was 10,246,553 tons valued at $10,317,162, and the output of our manufacturers, timber, tobacco and spirits for the year 1905 was more than $85,000,000.

"The banks of the state have also kept abreast of the prosperity of the times. In 1900 the 217 state banks

In Kentucky had $9,536,657 of capital invested, while today, the number of banks is increased to 481 and represent in capital, surplus and undivided profits $27,255,892. The 149 national banks in the state represent equally as much.

"The people of Kentucky have not been lacking in energy and enterprise in the past, and with that same energy still applied our rich lands, much of it still untouched by the husbandman, the farther development of our mining industries, and the taking from the ground the untold millions of dollars worth of valuable mineral which has lain dormant for ages; the iron, fluor spar, lead, barytes, asphalt and natural gas, all of which underlie our mountains and plains in abundance, and only await the inviting touch and genius of industries and enterprising Kentuckians to come to the surface and yield to the people their vast worth; these and many other resources await our people and are a guarantee of further and greater prosperity to our state.

The banks have always stood by the people and their enterprises and have made it possible for the great development which has made our state rich, and our development has made it possible for the banks to prosper.

"We have all helped in the past, and have reason to feel satisfied with conditions of the present, and should look to the future with a feeling of hope and determination to place Kentucky in the forefront of the prosperous states of the union."

Bruner's Speech.

Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner outlined his plan for state bank examination and made a plea for the cooperation of the bankers. He said in substance, after detailing the proposed method:

"That the state banks of Kentucky should be examined is a fact conceded by all people concerned. That these institutions desire examination is attested by the fact that they almost unanimously endorsed the passage of some such measure at the recent session of the Kentucky general assembly and is further attested by the large number that have expressed themselves as in favor of the proposition which is herewith submitted to each institution for adoption.

"I hope to announce within a few days to the public that every institution in Kentucky has agreed to pay for these examinations without being forced by an act of the legislature to pay the levy. It seems to me that there can be no higher commendation of our husband men and bankers than the very fact that they are voluntarily agreeing to pay for state inspection without being forced to do so. In my judgment these examinations would be as appropriately named if they were called teachers as their biennial visits to each of these institutions will be of incalculable value to both the active officers and boards of directors. It has been truly said that the small cost of these examinations can well be paid for in any of the following five ways:

"First, the active officers themselves can afford to pay it for the satisfaction it will give them, as well as the protection.

"In the second place, the board of directors can well afford to give the amount for the reason that they are liable under the law for the acts of the executive officers.

"Third, the stockholders can well afford to pay the fee for the protection it gives them under the double liability act.

"Fourth, the depositors can well afford to pay the fee for the extra protection it gives them as depositors.

"Fifth, it can well be charged to advertising for the benefit it will be to the banks in the way of extra business.

"There is no question but what it will create a wave of renewed confidence in the state banking institutions, beside it will, in all probability, give us a much better opportunity to be recognized under the postal savings law in the future.

"It is my intention to appoint, in fact I have already appointed, five business men and state bankers who have accepted the positions (three Democrats and two Republicans) to aid and assist me in the execution of this work and which committee will pass upon the qualifications, experience and adaptability of these bank examiners. These examiners will be appointed from the two political parties, not because of their politics but in spite of their politics, as I intend that this matter shall be kept entirely out of politics as I consider it strictly a business proposition.

"It has been said by a number of bankers in writing me that all banks will be glad of this opportunity for state inspection. This, I believe, is true

Daily Thought.
We ought to be as courteous to a man as to a picture, which we are willing to give the advantage of a good light.—Emerson.

Tennessee intends to get in the "Boy Governor" class.

If Mayfield issues bonds to macadamize her principal streets, and Paducah is satisfied to gravel hers, Mayfield will "have it on Paducah" in one respect.

Isn't good old human nature just sticking out all over those people, who fought President Taft's election on the ground that he was "the creature of Roosevelt", and who now abuse him because they say he is acting independently of Roosevelt? Yet, Roosevelt didn't please those people when he was president.

THE GATE TO DIXIE.
To Theodore Roosevelt:—Thank you, Colonel. You are exactly right; and much of that Panama canal traffic will pass through and eventually originate in Paducah, whose four rivers give her water competition all the way from the sources of raw supply to the biggest gulf port of distribution, making her the natural assembling point for the Asiatic and Pacific coast trade, when two more trunk lines of railroads cross the Ohio river here, connecting the lakes with the gulf. This is the main gate to Dixie.

THE FARM EXODUS.
The census reports show the biggest gains in population are in the smaller towns and cities. This is gratifying from one point of view and a serious matter from another. The smaller towns and cities are not filled up with immigrants, but native population, and their comparative excess of percentage in growth, indicates that the great influx of foreign element to the large cities is temporarily checked. On the other hand, the growth of the smaller towns cannot be attributed to the natural birth rate, and must mean the exodus from the farm to town. Let us hope the next ten years will show a corresponding return to the country.

Chicago High school course in domestic science will teach girls household economy, or the conservation of small salaries. Among the exercises will be that of transposing the expression "high cost of living" into "coast of high living."

The question "what to do with our ex-presidents" is not answered to the satisfaction of either the ex-presidents or the public, by their fool friends, who use their names to gain personal ends. Theodore Roosevelt's name was dragged into a Republican state convention in New York without consulting the leaders, with a result that was humiliating to Mr. Roosevelt; and yet, he was entirely helpless to prevent it.

HONORS THAT TURNED TO ASHES.
Self-respect, the desire to realize the highest ideal of conscious merit that lies within one; the determination, that no matter how much others may misunderstand one, he will

A DEMOCRATIC VIEW

The Republicans of Tennessee are in session over in Nashville. They will formulate a platform and nominate a candidate for governor.

It is needless to say that conditions make their action of general interest to the public.

There is a co-called gubernatorial nominee of the Democratic party. He received his nomination in a primary participated in by not more than 15 per cent of the Democratic voters of the state. In the party of which he claims leadership there are tens of thousands who will not vote for him. They believe that the best interests of the state, the healing of the Democratic party, demand that he be retired.

This is certainly a year of opportunity for Republicans to prove that this is so. Let them write a sound platform, taking high grounds, and then name a man whose integrity and respectability cannot be impeached.

know himself to be true, is a principle too often lacking in those, who esteem the plaudits of the rabble and the luxuries that wealth can buy of greatest moment.

Governor Patterson, of Tennessee, is one of these. He wanted power and political preference, wealth and luxury, and he cared not how he got them. He considered the office of governor itself an honor worth getting up matter how, and worth holding at any cost. He got it, but like the fabled fruit, the honor has turned to ashes in his mouth. There is no honor in the office of governor for a dishonorable man. Patterson is lacking in self-respect. He cared not what he knew himself to be, if others regarded him as governor. His downfall is due to the fact that he, like many others, has no appreciation of the true values of life.

No more humiliating fall ever was prepared for a man than that prepared for Ham Patterson. Like Haman, he will be hanged on his own scaffold, prepared for another. It matters not now, whether he withdraws or remains in the race; nothing that Governor Patterson and his gang can do is of importance in Tennessee.

In absolute control of the organization of the majority party, Patterson manipulated the primary to his own satisfaction, trusting that much abused term "party loyalty" to see him through. Then came one of the most courageous demonstrations of a free majority's right to rule ever witnessed in this country. A majority of his own party temporarily deserted him to his fate and openly proclaimed their support of the opposing candidate. The strength of their position is shown by the fact that leading Democratic papers of the state have espoused the cause of the independents, while maintaining their party regularity.

They cannot give the people a bad administration and bring discord and strife and death into the state and call down upon Tennessee the condemnation of the world, and get away with it because they are of the dominant party and appeal to Democratic loyalty. SOCIETY VICTIMS

SWINDLER POSES AS SON OF MILLIONAIRE SCHIFF.

Cuts Swath Among Fashionable People—Leaves Many Bad Checks.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 17.—A good-looking, well-dressed young man, giving the name of Mortimer Schiff and posing as the son of Jacob Schiff, the millionaire Wall street banker, of New York, after cutting a wide swath in the advanced set of Lexington society, borrowing various sums of money and cashing a number of "cold" checks and drafts, has disappeared as mysteriously as he came. He met a party of Lexington young people at Mammoth Cave and, managing to secure an introduction, was invited to accompany them here, where he was at once accepted at his face value as Jacob Schiff's son.

He played the role of being weary of the haunts of the very rich and fashionable and of having come south to see something of the aristocratic old families and the pretty girls who were more modest and unassuming.

He was invited into several of the most prominent Lexington homes, was entertained at the Country club and his name appeared several times in the society columns of the Lexington papers. He played his part well, and among other convincing documents which he with seeming careless good-fellowship permitted others to see, was a chummy, chatty letter apparently from another millionaire's son in New York, mentioning familiar names and gossip of prominent young men and women of the "40s."

He spent money freely, though not quite as freely as he borrowed, and acted his assumed character in the smallest particular.

On one occasion he appeared at the home of a young woman with whom he was going to take a horse-back ride, dressed in a radiant riding costume of white cloth. He used rented automobiles and taxicabs with out stint, and at his departure, which caused much regret among the society acquaintances he had made, he stated that he was going back to New York but would return to Lexington in a short time in his beautiful new white motor car and then he would show those who had been attentive to him here how much he appreciated them.

The bogus millionaire's son arrived here on July 23 and during the ten days which he spent in his visit he quietly and carefully borrowed money and cashed checks for sums of money which not only were sufficient to pay his expenses, but to leave him a nice margin.

One of the men from whom the fascinating huncor artist borrowed money, after his departure wrote to the millionaire Jacob Schiff, making inquiries and received a reply giving the information that it was not the first time some man had been around in the country impersonating the son and deceiving the people, and that the real Mortimer Schiff had not been out of New York.

LETTER WRITER THREATENS.
He Also Includes the District Attorneys.

New York, Aug. 17.—A letter in which the writer threatens death to several judges in this city and Brooklyn and several assistant district attorneys was received at the district attorney's office today and turned over to the police for investigation.

The letter was addressed to district attorney Whitman and read as follows: "I am now a free man after a three-year's sentence in Sing Sing along with three others whom I have made friends. We have decided to deal out a death sentence to Judge O'Sullivan, Judge Malone, Judge Fawcett, Judge Rosalsky, District Attorneys Ely, Hart and two others, for our lives are not worth living."

TOBACCO PRICES FIXED.
Eighteen Cents Fixed as Average—Tobacco in Five Grades.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 17.—Tobacco men from all important markets gathered at the inspection tables of the Hurley Tobacco Society here today, to examine samples of the 120,000,000 pounds of 1909 tobacco offered for sale by the society.

The executive committee of the Hurley Tobacco Society fixed the price finally at an average of 18 cents, the lowest being 10 and the highest 28. The tobacco was divided into five grades and each of these into classes, making about forty quotations in all.

TWO MEN HELD UP TRAIN.
Two Passengers Aer Robbed and the Bandits Escaped.

Bucklin, Mo., Aug. 17.—Two men boarded a Santa Fe passenger train at the Russell Fork bridge, two miles east of here, late last night, held up and robbed two of the passengers and escaped into the woods. Oscar Kirby of Bucklin, lost his watch and money. Luther Ryals, a merchant of Ethel, Mo., resisted the robbers, was beaten and shot in the left side.

Among the latest inventions is a machine which affixes stamps at the rate of 4,000 per hour.

PASSED AS CLERGYMAN.

Mexican Puts Over Some Counterfeits in New Orleans.

New Orleans, Aug. 17.—When Henry L. Middleton was arrested here a week ago charged with counterfeiting Mexican bank notes, he told the secret service officers that the Mexican laws required all bank notes engraved outside of the country to be brought in by an individual, instead of by express and he was on his way to Mexico with a supply which had been engraved in Philadelphia. He explained his cashing several of the notes by saying that a man named Marshall, the cashier of the bank of Jalisco, Mexico, had authorized him to sign his name to as many notes as he needed for his expenses.

While the secret service officers only smiled at Middleton's story, they communicated with the bank of Jalisco and today learned that Middleton and Marshall are one and the same. Middleton posed here as a clergyman.

SOLID SOUTH.

the past glories of the south, because I earnestly hope that the young men all over America today will keep ever in mind these glorious memories of every section of our common country, and that the men of the north and of the west will remember the south's past with the same pride the south itself does, for the undying glory won by the men who so valiantly and with such sincerity fought for their convictions, whether they were the blue or the gray, is now a common heritage of all of us, wherever we dwell.

South Must Do Its Share.
This nation is thriving with ideals at this very moment, and these ideals relate to constructive work in the future. The south must do its full share in realizing it, and from now on it must participate in full in the solution of all the national problems. All of us alike must turn to the apical problems of this age with the courage that our fathers showed in those heroic days to which we look back with mournful pride.

"The statue of General Lee, in Confederate uniform, stands in the hall of congress today, and his memory is honored no more by the south than it is by the north; and in the north as in the south, I think we are now learning to apply absolutely in good faith the great words of Grant, 'Let us have peace.'"

"The part played by the south in the constructive statesmanship of our nation during all our earlier years was of incalculable weight and value. I firmly believe that the time has now come when the south's influence again will be felt, not only in constructive statesmanship, but in the enormous field of constructive business endeavor.

Need More People.
"No part of our country has seen such progress as the south has made in the last twenty years along material lines, and I believe the next twenty years will see a greater progress. For long the eyes of this nation have been set steadily westward to watch its great and typical growth."

"From now on I think the south will share with the west in rapidity of growth. This leadership will be maintained by the completion of the Panama canal. The east has the Atlantic and the west the Pacific. The south even more than the east and west will have the Panama canal, and will, therefore, stand at the distributing point of all the great oceans of the world."

"You need more people, but, like the rest of the country, you need that these people should be of the right sort. Feeling this way, I naturally sympathize most cordially with every purpose of the southern commercial congress in its efforts to make both the south and the nation realize that a greater nation will be developed from the development of a greater south."

"In your membership no political lines are drawn; your effort is to strive for the advancement of American citizenship, and all broad-minded men throughout the nation must heartily sympathize with you in what you are doing, both to develop and increase the power of the south and at the same time to arouse therein a keener national sense."

"With hearty good wishes, faithfully yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

BOY GOVERNOR

convention, showing that the purpose was to nominate candidates for governor and railroad commissioner for West Tennessee, and fixing the basis of representation.

Chairman Sanders read the selections for temporary officers of the convention, as handed out by the executive committee. They were Hon. A. A. Taylor for chairman, George Hoppe, of Shelby, for secretary, J. Will Taylor and W. W. Shields for assistant secretaries.

Spoke Fifteen Minutes.
Mr. Taylor spoke for 15 minutes upon assuming the chairmanship. He was applauded and cheered loudly when he stood up. He congratulated the Republican party upon what it had already done and what it was about to do. In Tennessee, and said that the spirit of independence had been called up and would take no backward step. One battle has been won already and the other will be won on November 8. Old line Democrats and old line Republicans have joined hands to preserve the integrity of the state. The independent Democrats have been called betwixt and insurgents but they need not worry about hard names. Our forefathers were patriots and patriots, every mother's son of them. It is for the combined forces to finish the work that is begun. One man has gone about the state proclaiming against the temperance laws that have been enacted. These laws were not an accident. The legislators who passed those laws did just what they were sent to do. It is the sworn duty of the governor to enforce these laws. The governor wants local option, but that system has been tried and found wanting. It causes a cancer on the body politic, and that cancer can not be cured by local regulation. For its roots are statewide and statewide laws are necessary to cure them. This is a fight for maintenance of law and order. Enforce the law, and if it is found bad, repeal it. The law is our rock of safety. This is a fight for the preservation of the law. It is to clean the Augean stables. Our good Democratic legislators have joined the Republican cause for this work and after the states shall have been cleaned the Republican or the reformed democratic party will take charge.

Mr. Taylor closed with an extract from a speech delivered by the late Senator Thurman, wherein the latter foretold of the industrial greatness of Tennessee under proper laws, and this quotation was liberally applauded.

Hopser Wins.
The end of the congressional contest was brought to a finish, the nominations were declared, and the vote was taken by counties. It proceeded rapidly. Every county was heard from, with the single exception of Meigs. Before the vote had gone half-way down the list of counties it was evident that Hopser had the majority, even if Taylor had the name, and final count showed the vote to be Hopser 382-9-14 Taylor 201-6-14.

Chairman Penland declared Hopser to be the nominee, and the winner was soon brought to the front to make a speech.

He said he was glad the contest came to a close. It had been a long and hard one, but he was glad to see that some one out of the party had attempted to divide the names. That he said he won on his own merits in a fair fight, as he brought no crowd with him, no brass band, no escort, no campaign of fear. It was fought out fairly. The party now stands before the state and before the people. It has shown itself to be patriotic in its action on August 4. The present fight is not for the party. It is to elect a governor to the seat of the independent south in the Democratic party, and the Republican will try to go with the Republican till the work commenced on August 4 is completed on November 8. There is only one issue, that of good government. After that is settled they can return to their own party.

HOOTS AND JEERS FOR PREST. LEWIS

MINERS' CONVENTION TAKES SIDES IN QUARREL BETWEEN OFFICERS.

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—The affiliation of the Western Federation of Miners with the American Federation of Labor was practically assured in a conference here today, between President Gompers and Vice President Mitchell of the American Federation of Labor and President Moyer of the Western Federation. President Lewis of the miners did not attend the conference, but will not oppose the action. He stated that he would raise no question of jurisdiction if the Western Federation was granted a charter for which they applied two months ago. Gompers intimated that an agreement would be reached tomorrow.

Shouts of "Get out of the chair, put Hayes in," drowned the voice of President Lewis when he attempted to question the veracity of President Walker, of the Illinois miners, in the convention today. John Mitchell succeeded in restoring order. Lewis then said: "If any one wishes to file charges against me with the proper tribunal, and will prove the case I will step out; I defy you to do it." The defy was cheered. The trouble followed a squabble over what Walker said in a speech yesterday. Lewis declared the records would show there were some men in the hall "that have a habit of telling what is untrue." Lewis accused the Illinois miners of violating their contracts by calling out engineers.

CLOSES STRONG IN THE PIT

WHEAT MARKET TAKES BRACE AT WEEK'S END.

Early Weakness due to Pressure by Hedgers—Feel Effect of Heavy Sales.

IS LITTLE TRADING IN OATS

Chicago, Aug. 17.—The wheat market was drab and lower during the early part of last week, but became quite strong toward the last, when Europe began to take interest in American wheat markets. The early weakness was due to pressure by hedgers and from liberal offerings and rapidly-increasing supplies in the domestic field. All of the leading markets began to feel the effect of the recent heavy sales of grain from the interior. In the absence of an export outlet or any material milling demand for wheat, the available supply of money is being used up pretty fast in all directions. In addition to this, there was a blocking of terminal tracks at most of the big receiving points, but this is expected to be of short duration. One of the largest grain elevators pulled out of the market during the week for cash wheat because it already had more cars than it could conveniently handle until the blockade is cleaned up. The effect of this withdrawal of competition was promptly felt on wheat prices.

On Thursday all sorts of export rumors were current. Sifted down it developed that there was a little business doing from the Atlantic seaboard, as well as in Manitoba wheats, but prices were low and the quantity not important. A Duluth export house, which also runs quite heavily into speculation, reported the sale of a cargo of winter wheat from Chicago for direct export to France, and bought about 100,000 bushels of August wheat here. The report of another sale for direct export by a local house was found to be a continuation of the sales previously made to go to Buffalo, where a low rate of storage is available. There is still a difference of two to four cents a bushel against the working of wheat from Chicago to Europe for an ordinarily reasonable profit, but export houses say this country and Europe are gradually but steadily getting nearer to a working basis. With a continuation of the strength recently shown in the European centers and the movement of wheat from the interior here, it is expected that an export basis will be very speedily arrived at.

Big Factor in Market. European buying of wheat futures in Chicago market has been an increasing factor in the market for several days. The chief buying was for December delivery, but the demand was pretty well distributed through the list. The buying at one time during the week was quite persistent, but mainly of small and scattered lots and through quite a number of commission houses. The character of the orders indicated rather widespread interest in wheat throughout Europe.

This interest on the part of the Europeans became a big factor in the trade late in the week and marked improvement in general speculative interest, as well as a big change in popular sentiment in the trade, was noted. The greater part of the foreign buying here was of futures, although there was substantial evidence also that more or less export business was done at various points. The trade was also counting on a falling off in cash wheat sales, although the advance in prices called out further sales from the country. A revival in the flour trade was a distinct help to values and sentiment. The bulk of the new demand for flour was domestic, but Southwestern mills claimed to have sold considerable for export. The trade will not take a grant deal of stock in export business until ocean freight rates show a better tone. There has not been enough business done thus far to cause much of a ripple in the ocean freight market, which has been down to an almost normal basis for some time. The lake rate is very low and wheat can be carried from Chicago to Montreal for 3 cents a bushel.

Crop Report Surprises. Surprises in the government crop report for August, which was issued on Monday, were the big total winter wheat crop and the reduction of more than six points in the condition of corn.

The wheat report was given a very bearish construction by the trade and helped materially to weaken prices during the early part of the week. There was considerable pressure on wheat from hedgers and from miscellaneous longs on Monday. The depressing influences on the market were chiefly from liberal marketings and rapidly increasing supplies at center of accumulation, and the heavy shipments from other countries here improved some under increasing competition between elevator concerns. Consignments to one market were heavy, but purchases made in the country over Sunday were very small.

Scarcely any business outside of local was transacted on Tuesday. The volume of this was also unusually small. There was a claim of a dropping off of receipts southwest and this helped to strengthen the market, but the chief bullish influence throughout the session was unfavorable weather reports, had crop reports and higher markets in France. There were claims late in the day of export purchases of 480,000 bushels of wheat in various positions for French account. The bulk of this was reported to be Durum, brought mainly of Duluth exporters, and a little soft wheat at Atlantic ports.

Nervous and Choppy. On Wednesday the market was a nervous and choppy affair. The tendency was lower under the influence of a heavy supply of actual wheat here, for which there was no apparent immediate outlet. The early tone was weak following a decline at Minneapolis, where values were influenced by the lowering of the grade there.

Substantial advances were made on Wednesday, chiefly the result of bullish foreign news. There was quite an increase in speculative activity, foreign buying of futures comprising a large part of it. Early cables told of sensational crop losses in France as the result of a big storm. Further advances in Paris were supplemented by rains in other Continental markets and in Liverpool. There was good buying of all futures here for foreign account and reports of some purchases of cash for export. Meanwhile the domestic trade was increasing, and speculators and cash handlers were expecting a falling off in wheat receipts soon. This was expected to have much influence on home and foreign values.

Local pit leaders were netive buyers on Friday. Barlett-Frazier began buying May wheat on a large scale and the whole trade became excited on the advance which followed. Liverpool reported shorts covering there because of the continued buying of cargoes by the continent and reports of damage by heavy rains in Russia.

At the end of the week September wheat showed a gain of 1 1/2 cents, over the close of the previous week. December was 1 1/2 cents higher and May gained 2 1/2 cents. Corn displayed considerable stubborn strength all during the week, for the week.

MONROE STREET TO BE GRAVELED

AT LEAST, B. P. W. WILL RECOMMEND IT.

Routine Business Is Transacted at Meeting of Board Held Last Evening.

ENGINE OFFERED FOR SALE

Routine business of no special importance and little of that occupied the attention of the board of public works for a short time last night at the city hall. Owing to the warm weather the meeting was half an hour late in beginning. This afternoon the board is inspecting the new concrete sidewalks along North Twelfth street from Kentucky avenue to Trimble street. The work was recently completed.

The board decided to recommend to the general council that Monroe street west of Fountain avenue be graded and graveled for a distance of one block. Some property owners along that street have requested the improvement.

A petition was received from property owners, asking for an arc light at the intersection of "H" street and Guthrie avenue. No action was taken and the matter deferred until the new engine is installed at the city light plant.

The Nortonville Coal company, which recently sold out to the Nortonville Coal and Coke company, was requested to see that their contract for furnishing coal for the city light plant be fulfilled. The new company cancelled the contract, as it had sold its output to the Illinois Central Railroad company, but the old company has agreed to supply the seven car loads due from the St. Bernard Coal and Mining company. A shipment will be made this week.

Street Inspector Ernest Bell reported he had collected $16.25 from C. E. Jennings for the construction of a tile drain across the property of Lee Bell, colored, at Ninth and Caldwell streets. Mr. Jennings formerly owned the property, which was sold to Bell and he was unable to make the improvement. Supt. W. H. Force, of the city light plant, was instructed to advertise an old light machine that was re-wound 17 months ago, for sale. The machine was re-wound at a total expense of $75 and since that time it has not been in commission, having only been operated altogether about 24 hours. It is almost as good as new and formerly supplied 80 street lights. Mr. Force has had an offer for it and it will be sold if a satisfactory price can be gotten.

Only President study and Mr. Lack were present last night.

PLEAD WITH DICKINSON.

Philippines Talk. Antonomy—Secretary Says Congress Must Act.

Manila, Aug. 16.—Jacob M. Dickinson, the American secretary of war, found it necessary to define the limitations of a cabinet officer to the Philippines. At Lucena a reception was given in honor of Secretary Dickinson and Gov. Gen. Forbes and one of the members of the assembly, who was presented to the secretary, urged immediate independence for the islands. Another assemblyman, as an alternative, urged a popular constitution and an elective senate.

Secretary Dickinson, in replying, stated that there were limitations to the position of a cabinet officer. He said that congress was the only place where the political status of the islands could be discussed.

LAST CLUE IN RICE CASE.

Cleveland Police Hunt a Negro and a Skellan.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 17.—Detectives seeking a solution of the mystery surrounding the death of William L. Rice, millionaire attorney and clubman, who was murdered in the street, ten days ago, today admitted that if a clue they are now following fails to produce results they are at the end of their resources. The clue led to a search for a colored man, and a Skellan, who sought to sell a revolver of the type and caliber of the one from which the shot that killed Rice was fired.

The rural districts of Europe furnish the best soldiers.

although the trade as a rule was dull. Although the government report showed a big falling off as compared with a month ago, it nevertheless showed a crop larger than ever before raised. The latter fact, however, was offset by the big shortage estimated in the hay crop. Longs were stubborn and shorts were moderate buyers. The country has sold very little corn of late. September wheat at the end of the week showed an advance of 2 1/2 cents over the close of the previous week. December was 2 1/2 cents higher and May gained 2 1/2 cents.

Very little business was done in oats. Shorts were good buyers at times, but there was some investment buying of December by outsiders. Oats made fractional gains for the week.

BEATS PIGEONS

LE BLANC VICTOR IN 50-MILE DASH.

Hubert Latham Flies from Suburbs of Paris to Amiens, Stopping En Route.

Amiens, France, Aug. 17.—The first aerial race between the birds of nature and of man's own production took place in the course of the great aerial cross-country competition and was easily won by man. A flock of 47 carrier pigeons was released at Douai yesterday at the same instant that Le Blanc, in his Farman biplane, started from the mark on his 50-mile flight to Amiens.

Rushing through the calm air the biplane soon outdistanced the birds, and when Le Blanc reached Amiens the flock was not yet in sight, the first pigeon arriving six minutes and twenty seconds after Le Blanc. Before the last of the flock had come in Le Gagnieux, who had started at the same time as Le Blanc, but consumed nine minutes more on the trip, arrived, beating the last pigeon by 20 minutes.

Hubert Latham flew today from Issy Les Moulinaux, in the suburbs of Paris, to Amiens, stopping en route to take lunch with friends at Breteuil. He thereby accomplished practically the last lap in the cross-country race, a distance of about 68 miles, but in the reverse direction.

When sidetracks are taken into account, we have more railroad mileage than all the rest of the world.

"Time's Flight Turned Backward" SAGE AND SULPHUR

Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

Read Mrs. Herrick's Sworn Statement

STATE OF NEW YORK County of Monroe: ROCHSTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long dark brown hair which was the envy of my school mates and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

VIRGINIA OF THE AIR
A Romance Of Flying
By HERBERT QUICK
Copyright, 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Don't be in a hurry!" he shouted. "Stick around with us awhile. We're going out where it's deep. Come in; the water's full! Got your bathing suits? When she draws short telephone down. Don't yell; for there won't be one hear you. There won't be one hear either of you again in this world except just you two. By-by! See you in Davy Jones'—d-u you!"

And with this, as if pulled down from below, the man vanished into the dark interior, the manhole closed, and the chain, like a line taken by some titanic fish, started out to sea. The airship had been captured by the submarine! The mechanical devilfish was not running very deep; her round deck rose awash sometimes, but with no sign save the erection of her periscope that she was more than an inert mass of steel she swam on.

Still seated, where Theodore had placed her, Virginia looked at him in questioning terror. He was white and horrified. At this moment he was deprecating her in her flight so as to get all possible slack in the chain, so that by a sudden upward rush he might break the tether. Once, twice, thrice he did this, but the chain held.

"What is it, Theodore? What is it?" said she.

"I don't know," said he, "but I think it's the end!"

Carson was not looking at her. He was looking upward, like a man seeking for some sort of inspiration. She stood looking out over the great desolate sea and back to the receding shore, on which she saw a group of forms—the forms of their friends. Nothing could seem more helpless. They were chained to their fate—a dark fend of a machine that was taking them out to sea, to depths profound enough to drown them—it might be an hour; it might be the next moment.

Carson stood over her with a pistol in his hand.

"Virginia, can you shoot?" he asked.

She took the pistol and nodded affirmatively.

"I shall have to ask you to protect me," said he, "while I try to cut that chain. They can see with their periscope what I'm doing, and when it is necessary they will come up into the open and fire. By pulling out to sea I can get her at an angle that will force them into the open to shoot. When the manhole opens shoot into it. If you should hit one of them don't let it trouble you."

"I shall kill one of them if I can," said she. "Never mind that! Tell me the things to do!"

"I shall take the pliers and a file," said he. "I don't think the pliers will cut it. I may be too weak to climb back. I don't know that I can do it anyhow. You must take us back to land if I cut her free."

"Never fear. I know every lever," said he. "There's another thing," said he. "We came out with only a little gas. If we go much further we haven't enough to get ashore with. I think I could saw her in with the aeroplane set of the blades. I think we had better fly low going back and not waste fuel. Keep her gliding about a hundred feet from the water, but if you want the aeroplane set this is the way to fix it."

With a swift movement he showed her the way to manage the mechanism. He inserted a pair of pliers about his neck with a lanyard, thrust a couple of files into his pockets, took off his boots, his coat and waistcoat and stepped to the side.

"You may get ashore," said he, "while I may not. If so goodby, and God bless you, dearest!"

She threw her arms about his neck and kissed him over and over again. He felt her warm tears on his lips.

"Don't cry!" said he. "Clear your eyes and shoot straight. Goodby!"

She stepped to the rail and looked fixedly at the black shadow like a gigantic fish that represented the submarine. Carson had disappeared over the side in a terrifying hand under hand descent until he reached the trusswork of the nacelle. The black shadow grew more distinct, the round deck broke water, and as the manhole opened Wisner appeared and aimed at Carson coolly as at a target. Too hastily Virginia fired. The bullet struck the edge of the deck with a vicious spat. Wisner's pistol spoke, his bullet, striking metal, flew singing away, and the girl replied with the third shot of this strange duel. She aimed herself against the rail, aimed conscientiously at the middle of the mark presented by the villain below and fired—fired with the curious certitude the marksman feels when he is making a good shot. Wisner had just lifted his arm to fire again, but his hand fell as if struck down by a giant's blow. He dropped back into the darkness like a shot woodchuck, the manhole closed, and the submarine went on toward deep water as grimly as before.

"Good!" said Theodore. "But watch the manhole just the same. I shall have to file the chain. The pliers won't do."

Suddenly she heard Carson calling.

"They've hoisted," said he. "I think they're going to try drowning us here. Don't lose control of yourself. Remember this is a fight, and we aren't whipped yet. Do you hear?"

"Yes," said she. "But it's so awful—so awful! If you were only up here!"

where you could— Tell me what to do! Tell me what to do!"

"Do you see how the chain shortens?" asked Carson. "She's going down. If the water's deep enough she can drown us unless we can overcome her gravity. Turn the index so as to show a dead down thrust of the blades and then full power on the last speed. It will take fuel, but it's the only way. Hurry!"

The airship sank, sank, nearer and nearer to the water. But without waiting to learn how the girl was carrying out his orders Carson again attacked the chain, and the shrill "screak" of the file greeted Virginia's ears as she turned the indicator and threw on the power. As they had never done before the great engines purred, the wing blades trod the air with a terrific roar, but with remorseless suction-like force the submarine drew her down closer, closer to the water, and she seemed lost. The sinking was slower now, but nevertheless more and more of the chain disappeared in the sea every moment. Virginia looked and despaired. The waves were so terribly near, death in their cold depths seemed so unthinkably horrible, she bowed her face in her hands.

The "screak, screak, screak" of the file kept on with the regularity of a machine. Carson was at work. He might be drowned. But when he went under he would go fighting. He was a man! He stepped to the side and called to him.

"I think," said she, "that we are doomed. Is there anything I can do?"

"You might advance the spark," said he. "Not much, just the least trifle. Yes, I reckon they've got us."

She sprang to the machinery and did this last thing ordered by her commander—did it with unshaking hands, as a soldier might take up the weapon of his comrade killed at his post. By the faintest trifle she advanced the spark and went to the side to see the effect. They were lower now, and the trusswork in which Carson hung must be in or near the crest of the swell, but the "screak" of the file went on, not so strong perhaps, but steadily still, the pangs of the unconquerable spirit of the man clinging to the trusswork beneath her. It was grand. It was immense. Her spirit rose, to the occasion, rose to the peak of "screak, screak" of a file in a hand that was dabbled in the waves at every lifting swell of the stolid ocean that rolled on just the same where its prey dangled with: the lapping of its tongue, and but yonder where perhaps no man had been since creation's morn.

"Theodore!"

The file stopped for a minute.

"Keep her as she is," said he. "We've got the submarine stopped. I've got the chain about fixed through, but I'll a little first. Keep her as she is! Just a little while!"

TEXAS DROUTH IS UNRELIEVED

COTTON OPENING PREMATURELY IN EAST TERRITORY.

Very Little Cotton in the Eastern Belt Ready to Open—Rain Is Needed.

IMPROVING EAST OF THE RIVER.

Washington, Aug. 17.—For three successive weeks cotton has improved in the states east of the Mississippi river and its promise is now fair to good. The crop is late and would be seriously damaged by an early frost, while frost later than usual is needed to allow the fullest promise to be matured. The plant within the past two weeks has grown very rapidly, and is attaining fair size. It is setting bolls quite satisfactorily and the farm toos is decidedly more optimistic.

Such rains as fell during the past week were beneficial. They were local in many sections, however, and the Carolinas and parts of Georgia would be benefited by general precipitation.

Even in the earliest sections of this eastern belt there is very little cotton that is ready to open and the movement to market will be delayed well into September, unless drouth later on should force premature opening.

Boll Weevils are active in Louisiana and Mississippi and are doing somewhat more harm than was earlier anticipated.

In Texas no rain fell except in some of the Red river counties and the crop lost ground steadily. Cotton is opening prematurely and very rapidly in southern and southwestern counties, and is being rushed to market as fast as possible by the farmers.

In western Texas, where within the past few years there has been a rapid expansion in cotton growing, the crop is almost a failure, and in many places is beyond repair, but good crops are the rule in the northern tier of Texas counties.

One Man Killed, Two Fatally Shot in Kentucky.

Brandenburg, Ky., Aug. 16.—Charles Gear was shot to death, Joseph Thomas was fatally wounded and Preston Gear crawling into the woods, presumably dying, from a gunshot wound received during a fight over a chaps game at Big Springs, Ky., yesterday. Each of the three men was shot in the abdomen, and James Tate and Joseph Ammun, charged with the crime, are being pursued by a sheriff's posse.

The three victims are sons of well known farmers. Preston Gear has not been found, although a trail of blood left by him was followed for some distance.

WEDDED IN NIGHT ROB.

Georgia Society Girl Elopes in Woe Sun's Hours.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17.—Clad only in her night gown and stockings, Miss Columbia Cheek, a prominent member of Atlanta's younger social set, was married at 3 o'clock this morning to Guy H. Buchanan, Buchanan and Miss Cheek have been engaged for some time, but the girl's parents bitterly opposed the match. Early last night Miss Cheek's parents learned that the lovers planned to elope, and they locked the girl in her room, after taking away her clothes. Buchanan heard of his sweetheart's predicament, and after midnight went in an auto to the Cheek home. By throwing pebbles against the window he attracted the girl's attention and found her willing to elope, although she admitted her trousseau consisted of a night gown and a pair of stockings. By means of a step ladder, Miss Cheek descended from her room into the arms of her lover, was placed in the auto and hurried to the rectory of Emmanuel Baptist church. Rev. W. L. Gilmore was aroused at 3 o'clock and quickly made the lovers man and wife, the bride looking very pretty in her "nightie" and stockings. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan went to a hotel, jang up the Cheek home and told of the marriage, compelling it with a request for clothes for the bride. In a short while the bride's trunk came, accompanied with a blessing.

WOULD BRIBE BROWN JURY

JUDGE DISMISSES PANEL OF SEVENTY-FIVE MEN.

State's Attorney Says Prospective Jurymen Approached—Sensation Follows Sensation.

MORE DISCLOSURES TO COME

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Declaring that practically all of them had been approached in connection with the trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, Judge Kersten dismissed a panel of 75 veniremen, who had been subpoenaed in the work of selecting a jury. Judge Kersten pronounced the situation "deplorable." The veniremen were immediately taken to the office of State's Attorney Whyman, where Judge Kersten asked each man by name if he had been called upon by any one in connection with his possible service as a juror. Nearly all answered in the affirmative. They were instructed to report in court for further investigation.

Mr. Whyman made the assertion in court that he could prove by a detective employed by the defense that the latter had systematically sought out every prospective venireman, either by direct approach or through members of their respective families or households.

P. H. O'Donnell, of counsel for Browne, asserted that the veniremen had been "seen" by agents of a third interest, neither defense nor prosecution, interested for political reasons in the downfall of Browne.

Situation Reaches Crisis.

The first stir in this development of the case occurred during the morning when Emil Wennerberg, a venireman, stated that he had been called into the office of one Dr. Kelly. While Wennerberg did not go into details in court, his intimations caused Judge Kersten to order the production of the physician in court.

The situation reached a crisis later when Swan Dahlberg, another member of the panel, stated that he had been "seen" by some agent whose real purpose he did not know. Dahlberg said this agent told him, after questioning him closely as to his belief in the guilt or innocence of Browne, that he need not answer the subpoena. Dahlberg acted on this advice and was in consequence brought before the court to explain why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court. Then he told his story. Judge Kersten leaned over his desk and said solemnly:

"The court wants to know if this is going to be a fair trial or a travesty upon justice. The situation has reached a point where an investigation is necessary. I don't want to blame either the state or the defense, but some one is doing crooked work, and I am loath to go on with the case. When a juror is subpoenaed no one has a right to talk to him. As it is, probably every man on this jury has been approached."

All Veniremen "Seen."
At this point Attorney O'Donnell made his accusation against some "third party," at which Mr. Whyman jumped to his feet.

"I can prove that the defense has been systematically calling on all veniremen," he said.

"Man after man has been excused from service on this jury and has been taken to my office, where they told me they had been approached, directly or through members of their various households."

Attorney Erbstein, of the defense, told reporters that the defense had nothing to fear; that they would show that the agents seeing veniremen were working for the prosecution.

One venireman, whose name was not disclosed, created a further sensation when the panel had been taken to the state's attorney's office. There was a hurry call for a stenographer. A member of Mr. Whyman's staff said the venireman had been asked by an agent to "stick it out for Browne until hell freezes over."

A sixth panel which was ordered to report will be questioned, and if it is found that investigators have been talking to them this panel will be dismissed also.

What effect the disclosures will have on the eight jurors already sworn in can only be conjectured. It is possible that they may be relieved of further duty in the case and the laborious process of selecting others begun all over again.

Another possibility is that the case may be taken to another court on grounds that it is impossible to select an impartial jury in this county.

The first trial of Browne, charged with bribing State Representative White to vote for William Lorimer for United States senator, resulted in a disagreement—four for acquittal against eight for conviction. The work of selecting a new jury for the retrial began three weeks ago, progress being slow owing to the fact that the great majority of the veniremen claimed to have formed opinions during the first trial.

Stage of the River.
The gauge at 7 o'clock this morning read 5.9 feet, indicating a fall of 0.4 in the past 24 hours. Weather clear.

The Clyde returned last night from unloading at the N. C. & St. L. wharf and is taking on a good cargo today. She will leave this evening at 6 o'clock on her return trip up the Tennessee.

The J. H. Richardson went to Eddyville last night and will return this evening. She will leave tomorrow morning for Evansville.

The Hob Dudley left Nashville yesterday, arriving here tomorrow and will run in the Nashville trade in place of the J. H. Richardson.

The I. N. Hook left this morning for Joppa, where she will do harbor work.

A sand bar which has appeared opposite the wharf and about the middle of the river, has created a great deal of discussion among river men, as a bar in this location has never before made its appearance.

Capt. A. W. Wright returned last night from spending a vacation in Chicago, and will be in charge of the Clyde this evening, relieving Captain Brown.

The Louisville and Cincinnati Packet company has placed two more boats on the Louisville and Cincinnati trade now, so that two boats will leave for the Cincinnati port daily. One leaves at 9 o'clock in the morning, while the other leaves at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Lighter built boats have been put into operation on all the Ohio river trade at the present time, and in that way the freight is managed to be kept stirring at all times.—Louisville Herald.

Rivermen say prospects for a good boating season are discouraging. For the first time to the knowledge of steamboatmen a sand bar has peeped up abreast of the wharves several hundred yards in the Ohio. Sister's bar, about 20 miles above here, is very low and it is predicted that if the river continues to recede navigation above the bar will be closed. There is barely more than three feet of water there and the steamer Ohio, running between here and Toledo, scrapes the bottom at each trip. Rivermen are of the opinion this bar should have been looked after by the government before now.

The cash drawer of the steamer Dick Fowler was broken into last night and several dollars in small change was stolen. The captain and clerks are working on a clue which they think will expose the thief.

WILL JACKSON, A COLORED BRICKMAN, IS INJURED.

Thrown Out of Caboose and Falls Beneath Train—Porter Sustains Stroke

Lucky to escape alive, Will Jackson, 28 years old, colored, a brakeman for the Illinois Central railroad, was taken to the Illinois Central hospital last night after having been brought to Paducah from Fulton, where he was badly injured in a side-swipe which occurred at 7:30 o'clock last night in the Fulton yards.

Three cars, including a caboose in which Jackson was riding, turned over when the train was swiped by an incoming freight train and luckily Jackson was thrown out of and beneath the caboose. He was struck by a rod on the right hip and probably sustained internal injuries. The wrecker soon righted the cars without any heavy damage.
